Let's Go on an Outing!

The rain that fell for several days stopped, and finally the sun came out in the weekend, so, I went on an outing to Yokohama. When I left the house, the cool autumn wind that touched my skin made the still hot sunshine bearable. White clouds here and there floated against the proud deeper blue sky. It was as beautiful as a picture of a sightseeing spot. It was a wonderful day thanks to the good weather, just like the first time I went to Yokohama last spring. I like not only the ocean, where my heart feels refreshed, but also the unique atmosphere of Yokohama.

With a weather like this in recent days, which is neither too hot nor too cold, it feels great whether you are in Yokohama or somewhere else. However, sadly, the days in spring and autumn become shorter with each passing day, and there are only a few days like today for an enjoyable outing. In the sweltering hot summer and in the cold winter that freezes our hands and feet, we only spend the time counting the days wishing for these seasons to quickly pass by.

So, we shouldn't waste away the pleasant days that we recently have. I'd like to suggest to everyone in AIS to visit nearby parks or distant places before these beautiful days we recently have pass by.
